TRANSITIONAL RECOVERY SERVICE (TRS)

A COLLABORATION BETWEEN
RICHMOND FELLOWSHIP QUEENSLAND
AND GOLD COAST HEALTH

TRANSITIONAL RECOVERY SERVICE (TRS)

TRS is an intensive support service for people accessing Gold Coast Mental Health Services.

The service supports people to return to the community after a hospital stay, or avoid a possible hospital admission.

This is done through:

- Intensive Residential support for up to 7 days
- Outreach support in the community and at home
- Access to a range of groups offered through the Capstone Program

ELIGIBILITY

- People aged 18 - 65 years
- Living on the Gold Coast
- Must have stable accommodation
- Have a diagnosed mental illness
- Able to manage own medication
- Receiving services through the Gold Coast Mental Health Service – either in the community or as an in-patient
- Abstinence from alcohol and drugs
- Willing to share a living space with others and actively participate in the program

REFERRALS

To participate in the program, you may be referred by your case manager or treating team in the hospital.

SUPPORT

During your time with TRS, we will:

WORK TOGETHER with you and your support network to plan your transition back home and your support needs

SUPPORT you to increase your resiliency in the community and to settle back in at home after exit from the Intensive Residential Support

COLLABORATE on recovery goal setting and your support plan in the future

CONNECT you with health services and your local community
