TRANSITION FROM CORRECTIONS

South East Queensland

RICHMOND FELLOWSHIP QUEENSLAND
A future recovered for people facing mental health challenges

TRANSITION FROM CORRECTIONS

Also known as the Transition Program, the program is a recovery focused support service for people released to the community from an adult correctional facility.

Engagement with the client commences in the correctional facility prior to release and support can continue for up to 12 months post release. Support provided includes emotional and practical support.

All referrals to the program come from the Mental Health Service while in a correctional facility.

WHAT TYPE OF SUPPORT IS PROVIDED TO ME?

RFQ's Transition Program will assist you on the day of release and support you to find and maintain a place to live. We will work with you to develop a Personalised Recovery Plan which may identify support to:

- attend your mental health appointments
- access health and welfare services and local community supports
- access financial support, educational and vocational opportunities
- work towards personal goals
- access the NDIS where eligible
